List below any allergies or special medical conditions of which coaches should be aware: _____

I agree freely to this waiver in consideration for the voluntary participation of my child, the above mentioned minor, in Ultimate Frisbee (hereafter referred to as "Ultimate") functions including travel and other related team functions of Fryz. I accept my responsibility to be informed, to encourage my child's prudent and safe behavior and play, to read and abide by all reasonable and available sources of information about Ultimate and related functions.

I understand ultimate to be a physical activity that involves considerable running and jumping. I understand that collisions among players and collisions between players and the ground can occur. I understand that participants in Fryz' activities range in age from 10 to 60 and that play often involves both genders on the field at the same time. I recognize that Ultimate is a dangerous activity with inherent risks, including but not limited to those identified above, and that such risks can lead to serious injury, disability, or death. I expressly assume and accept the risks related to my child's participation in said activities. I know my child's physical capabilities and believe him/her to be physically qualified to participate in Fryz activities. In the event that my child becomes injured or ill during participation in an Ultimate activity or while my child is under the supervision of any coaches volunteers or other agents of Fryz, and I cannot be contacted, I give permission to qualified and licensed EMTs, physicians, paramedics, and/or other medical of hospital personnel to render treatment.

I agree to release, hold harmless, and indemnify Fryz and its employees, trustees, agents, contractors, officers, organizers, volunteers, officers, directors, managers, members and other representatives, (including but not limited to Randy and Elana Lim, coaches and chaperones) from all claims for any current or past injury or damage resulting from any cause, including negligence, which have arisen or may arise out of my child's participation in or travel to and from Ultimate activities or other team functions. I accept full responsibility for all medical expenses and claims incurred as a result of my child's participation in or travel to and from Fryz activities.

I hereby agree that photographs, videotapes, and digital recordings of my child's and of my participation in Fryz activities are the property of Fryz and may be copyrighted, published, used for any and all media (including but not limited to newspaper and magazine articles; artwork such as stickers or posters; event programs; advertisements; and educational videos, manuals, and presentations), and exhibited publicly or privately for marketing and educational purposes. I consent that my child's and my name and identity may be revealed therein. I understand that there will be no financial or other remuneration for recording us, either for initial or subsequent transmission or playback.

I, the undersigned, have read and fully understand this Youth Participation Agreement & Release, realize that I have given up substantial rights by signing it, and sign it freely and voluntarily without any inducement.

What is a concussion?

A concussion is a brain injury, and all brain injuries are serious. Concussions are caused by a bump, blow, or jolt to the head, or by a blow to another part of the body with the force transmitted to the head. They can range from mild to severe and can disrupt the way the brain normally works. Even though most concussions are mild, all concussions are potentially serious and may result in complications, including prolonged brain damage and death, if not recognized and managed properly. In other words, even a “ding” or a bump on the head can be serious. You can’t see a concussion, and most sports concussions occur without loss of consciousness. Signs and symptoms of concussion might show up right after the injury or can take hours or days to fully appear. If your child reports any symptoms of concussion, or if you notice the symptoms or signs of concussion yourself, seek medical attention right away.

Symptoms experienced by the athlete might include one or more of the following:

What can happen if my child keeps playing or returns too soon after a concussion?

Athletes with the signs and symptoms of concussion should be removed from play immediately. Continuing to play with the signs and symptoms of a concussion leaves the young athlete especially vulnerable to greater injury. There is an increased risk of significant damage from a concussion for a period of time after that concussion occurs, particularly if the athlete suffers another concussion before completely recovering from the first one. This can lead to prolonged recovery, or even to severe brain swelling (second impact syndrome) with devastating and even fatal consequences. It is well known that adolescent or teenage athlete will often under-report symptoms of injuries. And concussions are no different. As a result, education of administrators, coaches, parents and students is the key for student-athletes' safety.

What do I do if I think my child has suffered a concussion?

Any athlete even suspected of suffering a concussion should be removed from the game or practice immediately. No athlete may return to activity after an apparent head injury or concussion, regardless of how mild it seems or how quickly symptoms clear, without medical clearance. Close observation of the athlete should continue for several hours. The new Zackery Lystedt Law in Washington now requires the consistent and uniform implementation of return-to-play concussion guidelines that have been recommended for several years:

A youth athlete who is suspected of sustaining a concussion or head injury in a practice or game shall be removed from competition at that time. A youth athlete who has been removed from play may not return to play until the athlete is evaluated by a licensed health care provider trained in the evaluation and management of concussion and receives written clearance to return to play from that health care provider.

You should also inform your child's coach if you think that your child may have a concussion. Remember it's better to miss one game than miss the whole season. And when in doubt, sit the athlete out.

For up-to-date information on concussions you can go to:

I have read all two pages of this Concussion Information Sheet and understand the nature and risk of head injury and concussion.
